Maternity care and staff shortages

Staff shortages in health care, including maternity care, continue to increase.

Pregnant women could not register anymore for maternity care in the Eindhoven region.

Due to these shortages, from May to October, it will not be possible to provide maternity care in the usual way, for all new mothers.

Regional approach

Maternity care, midwives, hospitals, and health insurers have made great efforts and worked closely together to accomplish that:

Every new mother will receive the necessary maternity care that suits her unique needs and those of her child

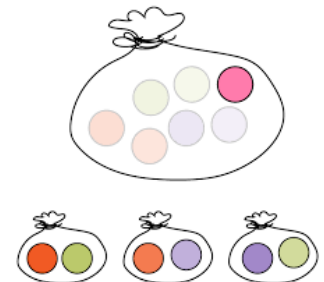

How will care be distributed?

Depending on your circumstances and the available care:

- At home for a maximum of 24 hours
- Maternity hotel for a maximum of four days (May to October)
- Maternity care until the 6th day
- Sometimes it is possible to use “video calling” with a maternity nurse.

Summarizing: customized care

Waiting list health insurers

If you have not registered with a maternity care organization yet, it is important to notify your health insurer urgently.

They will then promptly inform you about the maternity care organization where you can register.

Maternity Hotel – why and how?

Why

It is important that all new mothers and their babies will receive care, checkups, support and rest, either at home or in the Maternity Hotel.

What is a Maternity Hotel?

This is a specialized facility that offers accommodation and comprehensive care services for new mothers and their babies during the first days of the postpartum period.

It is a valuable and necessary alternative to receiving maternity care at home.

Maternity Hotel – why and how?

The hotel provides a supportive environment where mothers can receive assistance with breastfeeding, newborn care and recovery after childbirth.

Maternity nurses can quickly identify and respond to any issue that may arise for both the mother and newborn.

For whom is the Maternity Hotel?

For all women who give birth from May-October

- ✓ After giving birth at home
- ✓ After giving birth in the Catharina hospital, Maxima MC or St. Anna hospital

After childbirth you can receive care at the hotel or at home. The hotel is strongly recommended.

If in-home maternity care is not available, you will receive care at the hotel.

If the hotel is fully occupied, you will receive maternity care at home.

After childbirth, please call the maternity care organization to discuss your options.
